"Excellence for us, is not just about doing something well. At Mercedes-Benz, exploring new levels of excellence is an on-going endeavour. Our promise to deliver 'the best or nothing' stems from our quest for excellence". – Eberhard Kern, MD & CEO, Mercedes-Benz India

CELEBRATING EXCELLENCE

Minds of brilliance, machines of distinction – 'Conversations in Excellence' was an evening that raised a toast to all things perfect

Mercedes-Benz has an unwavering commitment to excellence, and its recently unveiled lineup for 2014 at this year's Delhi Auto Expo is a testimony to that fact. From the ML500 Guard to CLA45 AMG, and even the GLA Compact SUV, there's an underpinning of a restless pursuit for brilliance that never stops innovating. From flawless engineering to studied design and luxe interiors there's a steadfast attention to detail. 128 years since its inception, the Mercedes-Benz promise of 'Best or nothing' still rings true.

In tune with this philosophy, the marque hosted an evening in association with Forbes India and powered by CNBC TV 18 that witnessed some of the most renowned personalities who were driven in the pursuit of excellence in their respective fields to take the stage and share their life's experiences and inspirations. From sarod maestro, Ustad Amjad Ali Khan and tennis legend Leander Paes to Product and industrial designer Michael Foley, noted Indian filmmaker and screenwriter, Rakeysh Omprakash Mehra and the distinguished thespian Sanjna Kapoor – they came, they spoke, they inspired. Much like would any of the new Mercedes-Benz lineup the first time you set eyes upon it.
